

On November 19, 2017, Madison Recycle Advisory Committee members Jennifer Dean, student representative, and Betty Vining spoke to kindergarten classes through 4th grade at the Madison Elementary School to encourage and the benefits of recycling everyday items. Joining Jennifer and Betty was Levi Dube, a student at the school for the presentation. Jennifer and Betty donned vests attached with recyclables that can be found in any home. Recycling not only greatly helps the environment, but also lessens the impact upon the limited amount of landfill space.

Jennifer and Betty also carried a basket containing items made from recyclables which included T-shirts, a small triangle purse made from a tire, a toy truck, Frisbee, a water can, and a number of other items. They also talked about how to separate recyclables into individual proper containers for curbside pick-up or drop-off locations.
